THEY ARE LIGURING.

And Claim a Majority for Their Favorite Candidate.

BUT THE GEORGIAN IS IN THE LEAD.

Every Train Brings Congressmen to Washington,

WHO ARE AT ONCE BESIEGED

By Office Seekers and Others Trying to Ascertain Their Preferences for the Speakership.

WASHINGTON, December 1.—[Special.]— There is today, as there has been every day for a week past, increased confidence at the Crisp headquarters. Judge Crisp is all the time getting more than his friends have claimed of the doubtful and heretofore uncommitted members. Since yesterday, it has been ascertained that four of the five New Jersey members are certainly, and the other one probably, for the Georgian.

The friends of Mills have claimed all five. Mr. Amerman, of Pennsylvania, dropped in today to say he was for Crisp, which makes certain four out of the ten Pennsylvanians, and it is reasonably sure that a majority of them will be on the same side. The Mills men claim that all, or practically all, of the New England delegation of fourteen will be for their man, but it is absolutely certain that a strong minority will be for Crisp, and Springer is likely to have a vote or two. Among the members visiting the Crisp headquarters for the first time today were Blanchard of Louisiana, Paynter of Kentucky, Rockwell of New York, and Beltzhoover of Pennsylvania. They are all strong Crisp men except Beltzhoover, who is for McMillin first and Crisp next.

Crisp's Friends Confident.

Rockwell is a new member and from Gov-ernor Hill's district. Mr. Elliott, of South Carolina, telegraphs that he will be here to-morrow ready for work. Judge Crisp is him-self very reticent, but his friends talk freely about the certainty of success, and have no hesitation about giving out estimates. There are still some twenty-five doubtful and uncommitted members who are left out of the calculation, and of the remainder about ninety-five are for Crisp on the first ballot, eighty more are divided about equally between Mills and Springer, about nineteen for Mc-Millin and thirteen for Hatch. The withdrawal of either will not help Mills, as Crisp will have at least half their votes, appear in all their absurdity in The New York Times today, which gives Mills 102 and Crisp 63. No other New York paper has this remarkable news item, as all the others who print estimates give Crisp two votes to Mills's one. The Herald and The World give Crisp votes enough on the first bollot to insure his election later on.

The speakership contest was warmer today than at any time since the struggle began. The table published in The Constitution of this morning in which the probable vote was analyzed by states was eagerly scanned by the candidates and their respective managers. It drew out expressions from those having access to the schedules kept by the candidates themselves, and its accuracy was established.

Wisconsum—For Springer, Babbitt, Bushnell, Mitchell, Miller and Lyuch, 5; for Crisp, Barwig, 1; for Mills, Coburn, 1; doubtful, Brickner, 1. Crisp Still Ahead.

From the foregoing it will be seen that Mr. Crisp still holds the lead. This for him has brought an element of danger into the contest. When it is pointed out that the Georgia candidate has neared the hundred mark, and that a few additional votes added to his present support will result in his nomination, the friends of other candidates call attention to the fact that the combined vote of Mills, Me-Millin and Springer, as already known, aggregate 104 with the twenty unplessifed mem-Millin and Springer, as already known, aggregate 104, with the twenty unclassified members to hear from. The significance of this is that the three candidates specified are expected to combine to prevent the nomination of Judge Crisp. It is unquestioned that the field is endeavoring to fight Crisp to a standstill, as he needs but to hold his own and get his percentage out of the unknown vote in order to be nominated on the first or second ballot. If a few members can be dragged from his support it will injure him greatly. All along it has been maintained by the managers of the Georgian that his support was one that would be unwavering, and that no one was claimed who could not be absolutely relied upon. Hence, if some of those now credited to him could be dragged away, it would give his cause an appearance of weakness that might have an effect quite unfavorable to his chan ces.

Crisp's Difficult Task.

Crisp's Difficult Task. In short, Mr. Crisp has the difficult task before him of holding his large vote solid through three days and a half, with his opponents using every effort to make an opening in his ranks. If the tripartite combinavote for Mr. Mills with those understood to be for Messrs. McMillin and Springer, it seems pretty certain that the Springer men will generally agree to it. The withdrawal of the Illinoisan would help Mills most and be most injurious to Crisp. In the analysis of the vo e it will be seen that Crisp is credited but with it will be seen that Crisp is credited but with one supporter west of Ohio.

The northwest so far is divided between Mills and Springer, and the conclusion is reasonable that Crisp would get little or nothing out of Springer's retirement. However, his (Crisp's) managers say the outcome will show him to have at least seven northwestern votes, whether Springer stays in or goes out. votes, whether Springer stays in or goes out. Mr. McMillin would have difficulty in turn-Mr. McMillin would have difficulty in turning over his support solidly to Mr. Mills. It has been said that if he could do so he would now follow Mr. Bynum into the Mills camp. This statement was called to Mr. McMil in's attention by The Constitution correspondent today. The assurance was emphatically given that he intended to stick to the end, and no one acquainted with the gentleman from Tennessee would doubt his word on this or any other matter.

one acquainteen one sees would doubt his word on this other matter.

Mr. Mills is surrounded by a body of energetic and able workers. His leading party associates in the house are giving him a support that has helped his cause wonderfully. It makes an impression on a new arrival who may be uncommitted to find the leaders of the makes an impression on a new arrival who may be uncommitted to find the leaders of the party in congress working actively and unremittingly in behalf of the Texan.

Amid all the work that is being done, no figures or estimates are allowed to reach the public. The assurance is given with the greatest confidence to the visitors at the Mills headquarters that he will be nominated, in the face of the claims of any other aspirant. Crisy's claims are derided by Mills's managers, but they will not point out the names which they hold to be incorrectly claimed by the gentleman from Georgia.

hold to be incorrectly claimed by the gentle-man from Georgia.

Mr. Springer's campaign goes cheerily on.
He is an industrious worker himself, as was shown by the first canvass of the week, which gave him about double as many votes as ex-pected he had. Having reached the point where his strength is dangerous to the other candidates, he and his friends have applied themselves with extraordinary zeal. It is safe to say that when a new member of the democratic faith arrives in Washington un-heralded, the Springer men will be the first to discover his presence, and in short order have him shaking bands with their leader. There has been no apparent change in Mr. Springer's relative position in the contest. He is in a good position, considering how warm the fight relative position in the contest. He is in a good position, considering how warm the fight is between the two leaders, and if he gets no more votes between this and Saturday than are now credited to him, he will still be important figure in the contest. Mr. Springer is the one northern candidate, and the vote of the northern democrats is equal to that from the south.

the south. Hatch's Crowd Busy. Mr. Hatch and his Missourians are proceed-ing with industry, but calmness. They are proceeding on the theory that several ballots will be taken, and after everybody is compli-mented Mr. Hatch will turn up as the best compromise candidate, and will be nominated for speaker. Mr. Hatch will doubtless be given a good chairmanship when the committees are organized.

Captain Howell on Hand. Captain Evan P. Howell, of Atlanta, is hard at work for Crisp, and has an important engagement tonight with representatives of Mr. Springer, most of whose support will go to Crisp, in the event of his withdrawal. It is believed that Springer may be induced to lend Crisp a helping hand.

ATTACKED THE JAIL,

But the Sheriff Dispersed the Mob-A

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., December 1.—The county jail, situated in the very center of the city, was surrounded by a mob of 300 infuriated people shortly before midnight last night, blood of Charles Bis ravisher, confined in its walls. The man is an all-around criminal, and this latest crime was an outrageous assault on a little girl named Blanche Staten, seven years old, living in the northeastern part of the city. A few men gathered in the rear part of a salcon in the gathered in the rear part of a saloon in the same portion of the city, and they were soon added to. A descent was made upon the jail by fifty sturdy fellows, and in the march a force of 200 men joined in. The jail, a filmsy oid structure, was easily entered, but the mob got no further than the strong doors of the office. At one time they were on the point of going through these doors with the sheriff and a posse of officers cleared the room by a hard effort, and the mob soon after dispersed.

When Bissow was arraigned in the police cour yesterday he pleaded guilty in a nonchalant ort of way, and also acknowledged to the officers that about a year ago he had assaulted Daisy Wright, a child but five years old, a crime that caused great excitement at the time, especially as her assailant was neither arrested nor known.

His last crime of this kind was committed last Saturday, when he took the little Staten girl, aged seven years, from the company of her brother, and, by threats, forced her to go into a freight car with him and there committed indignities from which the child will mitted indignities from which the child will not soon recover.

Two lynching parties were organized last night, but they failed to connect; the larger body was waiting the coming of the other, while the latter was already at the jail. This morning Bissow was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. The jury was out twenty-one minutes.

At 12 o'clock today Assignee Gould met by appointment a number of reporters and made the following statement: "There is really nothing new in the situation. I am somewhat encouraged to find that things are actually looking brighter in some respects. The fact that there are no large creditors appearing with claims, or that no one on Wall street has been nipped, leads me to believe that the only great sufferers are members of that the only great sufferers are members of the firm, who have been victimized by Field. "No, I have been to the bottom of the whole thing, but am still in the dark, and am unable to account for the disappearance of the capital. Edward M. Field is the most plausible person I ever met. He has always toid me the most plausible stories, and even when they were absolutely absurd, they were told in a manner that made me believe that the speaker was perfectly honest in his sta ement. Only two days before the assignment was made, I talked with Field, and he rattled off a list of assets of the firm showing that they were worth over six hundred thousand dollars. He is undoubtedly crazy, and yesterday I met an old college friend of his who told me even when he was in school he had shown evidences of insanity."
"Do you know for what reason Cyrus W. Field sold his property at Grammercy park to his daughters?"

"I presume that it might be in order to be in position to aid his son that he sold property to his daughter, Mrs. Isabel Judson."

"Do you think that Field is worth as much money as he is reported to be?"

ANOTHER TRAIN ROBBERY.

Adams Express Company Lose About Fif-teen Thousand Dollars.

St. Louis, December 1.—One of the most during train robberies that has occurred for years was perpetrated on the St. Louis and San Francisco road, almost within the limits of St. Louis last night. When passenger train No. 3 on that road left the depot last night at 8:25 o'clock, it was just twenty-five minutes late. The limits of the city had been passed and the engine was preparing to make up for lost time, when three men, who had boarded the train at Old Orchard, climbed over the water tank and coal, and covered the fireman and engineer with revolvers. The engineer was ordered to stop the train near Glendale and, as additional inducement to him to obey orders, three men, who were in ambush at that point, opened fire on the train with rifles, but whether they succeeded in wounding any one has not yet been learned. When the train had been brought to a standstill, the engineer and fireman were ordered down from the cab, and, after detailing two of the band to kee guard over them, the other four men started back for the express car, in which was the taining about fifteen thousand dollars.

A Brave Messenger. Messenger Mulrenen, in charge of the car, erved the slackening up of the train and had opened the door of the car to see what the matter was. Suspecting something wrong and becoming suspicious of the men he saw advancing toward him, he hurriedly closed and secured the door just as the mer

The robbers first tried to induce him to open it, and, failing, tried to pry it open, but the stout door foiled all their efforts, and af-ter spending about ten minutes in this work they put a charge of dynamite under the door and blew it open.

As soon as the door was broken four men leaped into it. Mulrenen made a brave resist ance, but the robbers turned on him, and, after beating him into a condition of passivity with on the safe. This did not long resist their at tacks, and after riffling it of its contents the does took to the woods. The men were all masked and had evidently planned their work to do, and but few words were spoken during the entire operation. Immediately on receipt of the news a special train well manned with officers was sent to the scene.

A Large Amount Stolen.

Six men were concerned in the robbery. Estimates as to the amounts secured vary widely, ranging from $20,000 to $50,000, but nothing definite is yet known on this point. Superintendent Damsel, of the express com pany says it will be several days before the exact amount can be ascertained.

Sunday morning Holloway was shocked to find in his mail a note from Hunter stating find in his mail a note from Hunter stating that he withdrew the courtesies extended at the club, because Holloway had abused his friends who were with him in the club and they unanimously agreed that he had in every way conducted himself as a gentleman. Mr. Holloway thereupon telegraphed his friend Harry A. Knofel, at Louisville, Ky., and he arrived this morning. Hunter was called on and asked to name a friend. He gave Kirkman, the president of the club, But when Knofel called on Kirkman he refused to act.

Hunter Denounced by Holloway. Hunter was called on to name another but ne refused and said he did not want to fight. Mr. Knofel, then at the club, denounced Hunter publicly as a coward. Hunter had in Hunter publicly as a coward. Hunter had in the meantime called on the chief of police and solicited protection and late last night it was stated that he lad sworn out a peace warrant against Mr. Holloway. This action, in grossly insulting Mr. Holloway, declining to make amends and at the same time seeking police protection, is very vigorously denorneed by all the club members. A detective called on Mr. Holloway and told him that the affair must go no further. He was pleasantly received and assured that no further steps would be taken.

MUST HANG FOR BURGLARY.

The Condemned Man Gets a Respite of Two Weeks, However.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., December 1.—[Special.]
Alfred Dawns, the negro now confined in the Mecklenburg county jail under sentence of death for burglarizing the residence of Mr. John W. Wadsworth, gets a few days' respite. Judged Meares sentenced him to be hanged on December 3d. His lawyers got up a petition asking Governor Holt to commute the death sentence to imprisonment for life. This Governor Holt firmly declined to de. He consented, though, to give the burglar a respite.

Today Sheriff Smith received a telegram from Raleigh stating that Governor Holt had decided to give Dawns, a respite to Friday, December 18th, and that the proper papers had been forwarded by mail. When told the news Dawns said he was "mighty glad of it."

Down a Dollar and a Half in One Day.

WHAT CAUSED THE BIG TUMBLE?

Some Say That the Common Stock Is to Be Assessed

AS MUCH AS TEN DOLLARS A SHARE.

While Others Assert That the Advisory Committee Will Recommend the Issue of Additional Bonds.

NEW YORK, December 1 .- [Special.]-This has been a dismal day for everybody interested in Richmond Terminal, and particularly for the holders of the common stock. That modities sold down to 94, the lowest price it mark when the gong sounded at 3 o'clock. Wall street is always ready with explanations of unusual occurrences, and reasons for today's bad break in Richmond Terminal were in abundant circulation. Some of the stories were very unsavory. One was that the advisory committee of able financiers, nominated the other day to examine into the Termina affairs and formulate a plan for the permanent adjustment of its finances, has made a prelimi-nary investigation and has given the opinion that an assessment of $10 a share on the common stock of the Terminal would be absolutely necessary to save the concern.

This report created general alarm and the stock in consequence tumbled heels over head.

stock in consequence tumbled neels over head.

Another story, often repeated today, was that the Terminal preferred stockholders had determined to band themselves together and take legal steps to control the Richmond and Danville stock, which they claim is deposited in trust for their security If they succeeded in such an effort it would practically take the Richmond and Danville out of the handsof the Terminal company and put it in charge of the Terminal preferred stockholders. This would make a nice kettle of fish.

The thing that gave most color to this story was that if per cent was freely bid in open market for proxies on Terminal preferred stock for use at the approaching annual meeting.

market for proxies on Terminal preferred stock for use at the approaching annual meeting.

Various lawyers are said to have been consulted by Terminal preferred stockholders and some legal opinions encourage them in the programme to capture the Richmond and Danville.

Still another story, and, to my mind, the most plausible one, is that the advisory committee will advise an additional issue of Terminal 5 per cent bonds, which shall be underwritten by a strong syndicate of American and foreign bankers, and the proceeds from the sale of said bonds to be used to buy from the various subordinate companies of the Terminal system the unsoid securities they have in their several treasuries, and then deposit those very securities in trust as collateral for the Terminal bonds, issued to acquire them.

This piam would enable the subordinate companies to pay off all their floating debts and give them a handsome surplus.

Another Account.

New YORK, December 1.—[Special.]—Rich-

NEW YORK, December 1 .- [Special.]-Richmond Terminal securities took a sudden and unexpected tumble today and sold down to the lowest point ever reached. The cause was a heavy general selling of the stock, which a heavy general seiling of the stock, which late in the afternoon caused a general decline of other securities. The sellers of Terminal securities today are believed to be the parties who have been trying to get control of the company and remove President Inman.

Realizing that they have lest the fight, they rushed their holdings of the stock on the market in such quantities as to cause the big decline.

It was announced that the selling was by holders who fear there will be an assessment on the stock, either directly or indirectly, but this is hardly plausible. It is simply the dissatisfied element getting out of the company. It will, nodoubt, be tter off without them, and an unward turn better off without them, and an upward turn of prices will follow very soon. A decrease in the earnings of the East Tennessee also had a bad effect, coming just at this time.

The earnings of the road for the third week of November fell off $15,534.

The Scrap Heap.

The Scrap Heap.

A peculiar accident occurred on the East Tennessee yesterday morning. As a south-bound passenger train passed a crossing the locomotive struck a team which a white man was driving. His mule was just clear of the track as the cowcatcher hit the light wagon. The driver jumped and lit on the mule's back. The wagon was torn loose from the mule, and wheels, body and all were tossed ap on the smokestack. A sack of sait in the wagon was not even thrown out. The train stopped and backed to the crossing. Both man and mule were unhurt. The wagon was taken down and restored to its owner, who patched up his harness with some rope and drove off home.

—The report that W. C. Rinearson is to be made general traffic manager of the East Tennesses. Virginia and Georgia and the Queen and Crescent has started gossip in railroad circles. Mr. Rinearson has resigned the position of general passenger agent of the Eric road and it is supposed that President Felton, of the East Tennessee, has some position for him. As Mr. Rinearson is a passenger man and not a traffic man, so far as known, the report is accepted with salt.

A Meeting at Which the Convict Trouble Is Discussed.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., December 1.—There

NASHVILLE, Tenn., December 1.—There was a meeting today in the governor's office regarding the convict trouble. Besides the governor, the three prison inspectors, treasurer, secretary of state, comptroller, superintendent of prisons and warden were present. The status of affairs was discussed, and the superintendent authorized to employ 100 men at Briceville and 100 men at Coal Creek for guard duty, should that many be required. Nothing was done in regard to Oliver Springs, but the same number will probably be allowed there. It is pretty certain that it is the governor's intention to create a militia guard of at least seventy-tive men at each stockade. As soon as the stockades are finished, the recaptured convicts will be marched into them against whatever opposition may be offered. Their capture has already cost the state $9,699.

SMALLPOX ON THE WANE.

The Epidemic on the Coast Is Being Stamped Out.

SAVANNAH, Ga., December 1.—[Special.]—
Three schooners are unloading lumber at Harris Neck. It is understood that the government intends burning all the huts at the place and putting up new ones. It will spend $25,-000 on the work.

Other of the state of the service of the latest advices from there are to the effect that the smallpox epidemic has reached the culminating point, and the cases are beginning to decrease in number. Surgeons White and Carrington, of the United States hospital service, with a corps of skilled nurses, have been on hand since November 23d. The place is under regular quarantine, and no cases have been reported beyond the infected district.

place is under regular quarantine, and no cases have been reported boyond the infected district.

Immediately after his arrival, Surgeon White ordered a distribution of food among the suffering negroes. So far about eighty-five persons have been attacked by the terrible scourge, and about 15 per cent of the cases have proved fatal.

The surgeon found eighteen cases in one awo-story house. He at once had the building burned. The authorities are undecided as to how the disease originated on Harris Neck. It first broke out in August last, but did not reach the proportion of an epidemic until the latter part of October. It may have sprung from the outbreak in Darien last spring. The negro houses on the plantations in and around the infected section are not scattered, but are built in groups, forming, in many instances, small villages. Two and three families often occupy a house. Harris Neck is about eighty miles from Savannah, and is situated in the eastern part of McIntosh county on Sapelo, from which point they are carried to Harris Neck by Surgeon White's steam launch.

THE FACTIONS COMBINED.

In Marietta the Politicians Got Together and Divided Offices.

In Marietta the Politicians Got Together and Divided Offices.

MARIETTA, Ga., December 1.—[Special.]— Marietta has happily avoided a very bitter and hotly contested city election by the intervention of some of her most conservative citizens. Tonight everything was amicably settled, and peace reigns again in Warsaw. As in most cities, Marietta has two opposing parties, and when they meet in political battle, the tug of war is decidedly more noisy than agreeable. A city election for a mayor and six aldermen comes off at an early day in this month, and the two opposing factions had begun to marshal their forces. One side had gotten out a full ticket of aldermen, and the other had doubtless done so, and were withholding it for reasons sufficient to themselves. At this juncture, when the brass bands were beginning to toot and the happy colored voter had begun to yell at night from exuberance of spirits gotten somewhere, a few of our best citizens, foreseeing a fight similar to that which occurred here two years ago, succeeded in getting one side to accept a ticket composed of two from each of the former tickets and two selected by themselves. This ticket was accepted to officers to administer the city government for the next two years. The ticket as accepted is as follows:

For Mayor—T. W. Glover.

For Aldermen—S. A. Anderson, T. M.

as follows:
For Mayor—T. W. Glover.
For Aldermen—S. A. Anderson, T. M.
Brumby, Dr. N. N. Gober, E. W. Boone, E.

Marietta is to be congratulated upon the pleasant termination of what promised to be a very disagreeable political contest. The office of clerk of council was one of the main issues in the fight and as to this the compromise ticket stands pledged.

AUGUSTA'S ELECTION TODAY.

Mass Meetings Held in the Wards Last Night.

AUGUSTA, Ga., December 1.—[Special.]—Augusta is wild tonight over the city election for mayor and council. The excitement is intense. Every citizen is out attending his ward mass meeting, and many of the most prominent citizens are taking an active part and joining in the speech-making. The streets are deserted and the negroes are penned all over the city. The citizens are determined to elect Major J. H. Alexander determined to elect Major J. H. Alexander and his councilmen's ticket, despite the opposition of the so-called workingmen's party, which is supporting W. C. Chapman for mayor. All business will be suspended to-morrow, and every business man has promised to work for the success of the citizens' ticket.

The Weak Market at Liverpool Just Suited Them.

New York, December 1.—The Sun's cotton article: Futures opened lower, further declined, closing barely steady at ten to fourteen points reduction from the final figures of yesterday. The bears made a savage attack upon the market today with a good degree of success. They had the aid of a very weak market at Liverpool, private advices being even more discouraging than the published reports. Then it was evident that there was distress in the south under the load that is carried, reflected in the fact that the early months declined more than later options. There was nothing in the crop movement that had special significance. There was a decrease from last year at the ports and at the big four interior towns, but this fact had no influence in view of the vast accumulation of ba es and the final figures were among the lowest of the day.

Mrs. Bunch.

ALBANY, Ga., December 1.—Ten days ago Miss Ids Raineyl one of the prettiest young ladies of Perty. Houston county, went to visit the family of Rev. D. D. Bateman, of Leary, Calhoun county. Shortly after her arrival there she was intreduced to Mr. John L. Bunch, a young man of that place, and it proved to be a case of love at first sight.

Mr. Bunch made love fast and furious and his advances were met in the truest spirit of reciprocity. Then followed an engagement and the fixing of the date for marriage on December 9th. Instead, however, the wedding took prace very suddenly on last Monday after the young folks had learned that their plans were likely to be interfered with.

The bride is the sister of Editor Rainey, of Dawson, who went down to see about the matter Monday, but finding the marriage had taken place before his arrival, he accepted the result with all possible grace and give the young couple his forgiveness and blessing.

WAS TAKEN ON A 'POSSUM HUNT

By the Boys of Fort Valley-The Succession He Met With-Shooting at Stars for 'Possum's Eyes.

Here's the best story of the seaso Told at the expense of one of the clever est fellows in Atlanta. It is the story of how some enterprising and energetic young men of Fort Valley had fun with a man who would enjoy the fun hugely if the joke was on somebody else, but who may object to hearing the word 'possum

That man is Captain A. B. Carrier, secre of the Northern Society, superintendent of the Humane society, head and front or the society of Christian Endeavor, and a general good

FORT VALLEY, Ga., December 1 .- [Special.] During the latter part of the month just past, Captain A. B. Carrier, president of the Northern Society, of Atlanta, spent about two weeks here in the interest of his insurance company and the Christian Endeavor society. His social nature greatly endeared him to all of our people and on account of his denunciation of the special from Atlanta to The New York Mail and Express regarding the confederate flags at the unveiling of the Grady monument, he was constantly surrounded by a crowd of confederate veterans, who were lavish in their praise of him for the position the assumed in this instance, and they did everything for him they could. The high esteem manifested for this gentleman by the old veterans aroused a spirit of rivalry among the sons of veterans. They wanted to show him some courtesy, so they proposed to get up a 'possum hunt for Captain Carrier's editication as he had never been on one. The invitation was extended and accepted by the captain, provided he could borrow a gun. This foreign weapon in a Geor gia 'possum hunt put the boys to thinking, so resolved on having a little fun as it was possums. They informed the captain that as he had never been 'possum hunting none of them would carry a gun. As it was a rare thing for the dogs to tree more than three in a night, they would show him how to shine the 'possums eyes and sight him by holding a torch behind him, and thus let him do all the killing, so as to make him a 'possum hero. This courtes; struck deep in on the captain, and one of age was never more gleeful as he and the crowd started out. The dog for the occasion was a cur, and would bark up any tree that his master put his hands upon all night, if the crowd remained to cheer him up occasionally.

was a cur, and would bark up any tree that his master put his hands upon all night, if the crowd remained to cheer him up occasionally. After a few miles walk the party came into a hollow, thick with tall pines, and it was a nice piece of work to see a star through the heavy foliage. The dog was easily made to "tree." One of the party soon discovered a star through the treetops. The captain was put in position to see it, was shown how to sight a gun in the dark by the aid of a light being held behind him. He fired away some dozen times or more, but was urged to continue until he learned the art and brought Mr. 'Possum down. To carry the joke out, a 'possum was carried along without his knowledge. About the twentieth shot a chunk was thrown up, and in the dying echo of the gun something was heard to hit the ground with a dull thud. Every one made for the direction of the thud. When the 'possum carried from home was held up to view, there were yells of "Hurrah for the captain!"

'After going another mile and coming back to the same place, the dog was made to tree again. It took only half a dozen shots to bring this one down, and the crowd grew more jubilant, while there was a complacent smile playing over the captain's face, which the boys interpreted to mean that the captain wanted them to know he was not any sardine, even if they did think to have some fun at his expense on a hint foreign to him. By this time the "seven stars" were sighted through the trees. They were slown the captain, the sight of which excited him very much. Throwing down his hat he exclaimed, "Boys, if I don't get at least two out of that bunch the first shot I will give the gun to some one else and quit." The captain of the squad told him that he must not think of shooting into that bunch, as it was an old mother 'possum with her young ones neetling near her, on account of the dogs barking, and that it would not do to kill the young 'possums as it would spoil some of their sport next winter.

After much coaxing and explaining the captain w turn to town.

The next morning he enjoyed telling his luck to his friends who did not go, and invited them, every one, to attend a 'possum supper on his return here in a few days, as the boys said it was necessary for the 'possums to remain in salt about a week, to do away with the varmint taste.

Captain Carrier left last Friday morning to spend a few days in Atlanta, but is expected to return this week, to attend the supper, in which the carcasses of two didelphyc animals will be the most prominent thing in the menu.

The captain is still in total ignorance of the trick the boys of this moral town have played on him, and has no doubt regaled many of his Atlanta friends with his successful 'possum'. hunt. When he does return to this metropolis of southwest Georgia some one will have to decamp, as the joke is a huge one to play on a gentleman so well informed.

The professor would enter school and see chalk portraits of himself all over the blackboard, or else so many caricatures. Ermeni soon began to go about from school to school, and as a boy collect pennies for entertaining the children with sketches.

He got a chance to appear before the Boston eople fifteen years ago, when he sketched in Roston museum. He was but twenty year of age, but his little studio was visited by nds. Ermenie's work is interesting to observe. He draws the outline of a figure, and finally shades in until the resemblance is but slight. In a remarkably short space of time the picture is done, and, to cap it all, beneath it appears humorous words, at which no one could take offense.

UNITED STATES WEATHER MAP FOR TODAY.

Explanatory Note. The weather symbols on the map are as follows:

OCLEAR OFAIR & CLOUDY TRAIN SNOW Dotted lines, or isothermal, pass through points of equal temperature. Unbroken lines or isobars, pass through points of equal air pressure. The arrows fly with the wind. The figures at the end of the isotherms show the temperature all along that line. The isobars, or lines of equal pressure, run round a "high" cold wave or a "low" rain area, just as hillside ditches run round a knoll. The isobars rise one above the other with the grade of the atmospheric hill, or descend with the grade of the atmospheric valley. When you see the figures 30.01 at the end of a line it means that at all places where the line runs the air is high enough to balance in weight 30.01 inches of mercury. The same for 30.2, 30.3, etc. The cold comes with the high atmosphere, and rain usually with a "low."

Destroyed.

Rome, Ga., December 1.—[Special.]—The largest and most destructive fire in the history of Rome occurred this afternoon. The loss is estimated to be nearly a quarter of a million dollars. From three to four thousand bales of cotton, an acre of buildings, carloads of wiscons, buggies and bagging, and the Richmond and Danville trestle leading towards Chattanooga were burned.

At 4:15 o'clock the alarm sounded and Hamilton & Co.'s mammoth cotton warehouse was then a roaring flame. The ire spread rapidly and all attempts to quench it proved fruitless The entire Shorter block, the gas works, electric light plant and two bridges were within a stone's throw, and all effort was made to save these. Pandemonium prevailed, books and papers were taken from safes by all the merchants in the vicinity, and a large portion of the stock of groceries of Hamilton & Co. were pitched pell-mell into the street. The fire spread to the river bank on the west, burning the railroad trestle of the Richmond and Danville. The cars on the track were nearly all sayed.

Men were at work in the warehouse when the fire started, but how it caught no one knows.

Mr. Hamilton said to The Constitution's knows.

Mr. Hamilton said to THE CONSTITUTION's representative that they were fully insured. The Hale-Davidson Hardware Company had from one thousand to fifteen hundred dollars' worth of wagons and buggies stored in the warehouse and they were burned. These were only partly insured. The policies of insurance are scattered. The agencies represented by Colonel Hamilton Yancey have about one hundred thousand dollars' interest in it, while there are several other agencies for smaller amounts. The strong east wind fanned the flames mountain high, and people miles in the country flocked in to witness the greatest conflagration in the history of Rome.

Money in Birds.

Money in Birds. TALBOTTON, Ga., December 1.—[Special.]—In the absence of any more profitable employment, many local nimrods are hunting the wily partridge. It is said that this bird was never partridge. It is said that this bird was never more numerous than it is the present season. Ready sale is found for them along the line of the Southwestern railroad at ten cents apiece, and large/quantities are carried to Macon and Columbus. We are told that Mr. Charley Jenkins who lives near Box Springs, realizes from two and a half to three dollars per day for his birds.

A Pitiful Case of Helplesaness at the Provi-

He is fifty-eight years old, and came to Georgia from Boston about three years ago. He first lived at Macon, but for two years has been in Atlanta.

He first lived at Macon, but for two years has been in Atlanta.

He is a clitzen of Atlanta, having owned property and paid his taxes here. Mr. P. E. Brown, manager of the infirmary, is now in correspondence with the officials of the Milledgeville asylum, and also with the friends of Mr. Ricker in Boston. If his relatives feel able to care for him, and he gets strong enough, he will be returned to them. Otherwise, as a citizen of Georgia, he will be sent to the Milledgeville asylum.

Mr. Ricker has a wife and daughter living at Wollaston, Mass., but he has been separated from his wife about four years. They occasionally correspond, however, as letters in his possession show, and until recently he has sent money to support his child.

He was employed at the Atlanta piano factory until it was closed about three months ago, owing him something like a hundred dollars. He has a bank account of $50, notwithstanding this trouble. He boarded at Mrs. Bennett's, at No. 5 Badger street, before going to the infirmary.

He has several friends here who have done all they could for him. Mr. Finch, who works for the Woodward Lumber Company, cared for him off and on before going to the infirmary. Mrs. Bennett also did all she could for him during the commencement of his affliction. Mr. and Mrs. Brown are now attending to his wants, and are giving him both food and medicine with the utmost care.

At times he takes the notion that he is

At times he takes the notion that he is being poisoned, and will neither eat nor drink for many hours. This has made him very weak. Mr. Brown says he is weak enough to die at any time if he should persist in abstaining from nourishment for a couple of days.

His case is indeed a pitiful one.

AT THE THEATER.

Bill Nye and A. P. Burbank at DeGive's Tonight.

Bill Nye and Burbank, the two greatest enter-tainers of America, will be at the opera house to-night with one of their select programmes. They are a team which is without rival, and their wit, humor and pathos cannot be equaled. From be-ginning to end the large audiences which come and see these famous humorists are keut criming. and see these famous humorists are kept grinning or roaring, most of the time holding their sides so as to prevent a total collapse. Sometimes, also, pathetic tears fall from their eyes in streams patients tears in from their eyes in streams under the expressive delineations of A. P. Burbank. Really they give a great and superb entertainment, one that a lought to see.

The Chicago Daily Globe of April 4, 1891, thus shows how Nye and Burbank are appreciated in that great size.

shows how Nye and Burbank are appreciated in that great city:

"None of the numerous public halls of this city are so celebrated for such an unending variety of entertainment as Central music hall. But there is one annually recurring occasion when, above all other seasons, the hall becomes the scene of a carnival of laughter, and that is when 'Bull' Nye presents his compliments to the Chicago public. 'The Nye-Burbank Mammoth Aggregation,' as Mr. Burbank terms it, was welcomed last evening by an audience which was worthy of the great humorist whom it went out to meet, and of the programme which was presented for its enjoyment."

The "Two Old Cronles."

The "Two Old Cronies."

The Brooklyn Eagle of October 6, 1891, said of this organization: "One of the most amusing performances ever seen in Brooklyn is afforded by the farcical and indicrons skit, called 'Two Old Cronies,' Al. Wilson as Jacob Blotzmeyer and Edwin J. Heffernan as O'Donovan Duff showing great improvement ov: their predecessors as entertainers in the same piece. The entire company is new, and, while it includes the usual vocal and terpsichorean contortionists, there is an excellent chorus and Florence Myatt, Ada Deaves and others sing charmingly some very catchy airs. In fact, the musical part of the performance is, in merit and attractiveness, above most of similar farce comedy visitors to Brooklyn. A chorus of girls in several songs and as medly by the company were especial favorites with the audience, while the finale of the second act was a signal for hearty recalls. Al Wilson, Edward J. Heffernan, and Ada Deaves had the most important parts, and it was all fun making with them. They created a favorable impression. Max Million in specialties, Fannie Bloodgood and the sisters Don in a risky skirt dance were also well received. The audience was large."

Among the various interesting events that call out our fashionable public is one that never fails to please, and that one is the great tragedian, Mr. Frederick Warde, who will appear at the opera house next Monday and Tuesday, and at the Tuesday mattine, on which occasion he will present: Monday and Tuesday matinee, December 7th and 8th, a magnificent play entitled "The Lion's Mouth," which has been accorded unstinted praise from one end of America to the other. On Tuesday night he will revise "The Mountebank," thus giving us two of his greatest plays.

At Richmond Miss Winnie Davis occupied the stage box during Mr. Ward's engagement, it being the first entertainmint she had witnessed since the death of her lamented father. By a singular coincidence, Mr. Ward's performance was the least she saw prior to her father's death. Cultivated people like such plays as Mr. Warde presents, because they are not only edifying, but at the same time they attract one's friends, thereby making the opera house during his engagement an assembly of our most brilliant families. From present indications Mr. Warde's engagement promises to be a most magnificent success.

SEND THEM BY ALL MEANS.

The Forest City Thinks of Sending Captain
Brooks's Company to Chicago.

SAVANNAH, Ga.. December 1.—[Special.]—
Military officers here do not approve of the idea of sending a regiment composed of companies from different sections of the state to the world's fair. They think that a regiment formed in this way would not make a good showing, as the men would be unaccustomed to working together. There is much talk here in favor of preparing to send the Cadets, of this city, to Chicago, and steps may soon be taken toward raising the money.

The Express Robbers.

Macon, Ga., December 1.—[Special.]—Hon.
F. G. duBignon, who was one of the prosecuting attorneys in the case against the express robbers at Forsyth, says the question of illegality of the grand jury will not affect the case, which has been tried, and the defendants were convicted and sentenced, as the point was not raised at the trial. Other cases which had not been tried when the discovery that one of the grand jurors was not a citizen was made, and in which the question was raised, he understands, have to be acted upon by another grand jury before they can be brought to trial.

Judge Miller and Gamblers.

Macon, Ga., December 1.—[Special.]—
Judge Miller, of Bibb superior court, is determined to break up gambling in Macon.
He has imposed very heavy fines on gamblers in the past, and his fines today show that he is keeping his promises. There were two sports before him today, and one was fined $550 or one year on the chingang, and one was fined $000 or one year on the chaingang. Both have gone to jail, but efforts will be made to pay the fines.

ATLANTA, GA., December 2, 1891.

Vote the Straight Ticket. The voters of Atlanta are called upon to decide today who are to represent them for the next two years in council. There are two tickets offered-one representing the united action of the people without regard to any factional and disturbing issue; the other standing as the representative of a comparatively small but dangerously active class pledged to one issue and putting that first and foremost in its claims for popular support. We use the term "dangerous" advisedly, for nothing can be more dangerous to the welfare and prosperity of the city than the continual injection of the liquor question in every municipal campaign. It took Atlanta four years to recover from the strife and depression caused by the first prohibition campaign, and now that that issue has been settled to all conservative minds on both sides, by high license and strict regulation, the success of the extreme element would again open the Pandora Box of agitation, and Atlanta would be in for another period of disturbance and depression. One of the two tickets to be voted for today is the choice of the citizens, through their representatives on the committee of 100-a committee chosen without respect to factional agitation and with only the good of the city in view.

The other ticket is the result of a call of an institution known as the 1890 Club-whatever that may mean-whose most conspicuous leaders are noted for the vehemence with which they condemn others for going to the theater during the week, while they corner the opera houses for Sunday performances of their own.

The citizens' ticket is composed of conservative men who are piedged to the strict and rigid enforcement of the liquor laws, who will favor no modifiation of these laws, and who are pledged to the citizens, and not to any club, for the faithful performance of their duties. Atlanta is big enough to take care of itself, and the people should see to it that club rule is not made possible.

While there are good men on the ticket of the 1890 Club, their success cannot be argued otherwise than that of the extreme organization under whose auspices the ticket is being run.

On the citizens' ticket there are four who have voted for prohibition, and four against, but all are conservative men and the city can well afford to put its affair. in their hands.

For which of these tickets will you vote today-that of Atlanta, or that of the 1890 Club?

There should be no scratching. The line between conservatism and agitation has been drawn, and voters should get on one side or the other. Let those who endorse the citizens' movement vote its ticket without the change of a name, and those to the contrary do likewise with the other ticket.

With the facts before the people, we have no fear that the voice of Atlanta will be for Atlanta.

In conclusion, we again urge the importance of a full and a fair vote. Every man who is legally registered should see that he votes, and it is the duty of the people to see that intimidation and bulldozing do not drive from the polls those who are justly entitled to vote. Where charges of illegal registration can be sustained the citizens should and will promptly yield to the law, but the rights of every voter must be respected.

A Serious Question.

In response to an invitation from The New York World, Judge Crisp and Mr. Mills recently sent that paper a synopsis of their tariff views. The views of Judge Crisp were those which he has held from the first and which he still holds. The views of Mr. Mills were not those which he announced in the west a year ago, and which he repeated in a speech made in Cincinnati during Governor Campbell's campaign. The New York Sun has recently charged Mr. Mills with suppressing his tariff views to suit the exigencies of the occasion, but this charge is uninst to the Texan. He has been a free trader from the first, and he is a free trader yet. So far from suppressing his views, he has never lost an opportunity to proclaim them. In his Ohio campaign he did his best to commit the democratic party to free How far he succeeded, or to what extent his utterances aided in the defeat of Governor Campbell, it is impossible to say, but if The Sun will take the trouble to in vestigate the matter it will find that Mr. Mills has been a consistent free trader and that he has had the courage of his convictions.

Never, until he wrote his reply to the itation of The New York World, did Mr. Mills make any effort to conceal his tariff views. Yet, even in that reply, he does not diate his free trade declarations, nor s he deny that he is a free trader; and it esting to observe that Henry George and all the professional free traders have pulled off their coats for Mr. Mills. It is esting to observe, too, that The New This is the only course to pursue. Any

York Times and The Evening Post, the two great free trade organs, are not only urging the election of Mr. Mills, but are viciously attacking the character of every prominent democrat who opposes him. Governor Hill, according to these earnest and energetic free trade organs, is a rascal, Senator Gorman is a fraud, and Crisp himself is a traitorous protectionist; and all because these distinguished democrats are not free traders.

Now, we have no criticisms to pass on Mr. Mills because he is a free trader. He has a perfect right to his opinions. The whole question is this: Can the democratic party afford to place itself in the attitude of endorsing Mr. Mills's free trade doctrine? It is a matter of policy merely. If the party proposes to repudiate tradition and history and endorse the doctrine of free trade, then it should lose no time in making Mr. Mills speaker. He is a free trader pure and simple; he is for tariff reform only because he has persuaded himself that tariff reform is one step in the direction of free trade.

There is another feature of Mr. Mills's political career that ought to attract attention. It has been charged that he desires to postpone and ignore the silver question. This charge is unjust, because it does not cover all the facts. In his speeches in Ohio, Mr. Mills not only belittled the silver que tion, but gave the whole democratic case away by declaring that the law of 1890-the republican law, mind you-had substantially secured to the people all the benefits and advantages of free coinage. This declaration made the republicans the friends of silver, and there was no hope for democratic success in Ohio after that. It will be seen from this that the candidacy of Mr. Mills for the speakership is of more importance than has been supposed. Will it help the party to put at the head of the democratic house a free trader who contends that the republican silver law gives to the country all the benefits of free coinage? This s a serious question.

The Water Bonds Mean Low Taxes. The voters who cast their ballots today, whether they favor or oppose the citizens' ticket, should be a unit in favor of the water bonds.

After having the health, property and industries of Atlanta endangered by a threatened water famine for several months our people are practically unanimous in favoring the proposed special issue of $500,000 in thirty year 41 per cent bonds.

With this, in addition to what is al ready in hand, we can build the new waterworks system and pay for it so gradually that the expense will not be felt. But the failure of the bonds to receive the requisite two-thirds of the registered vote today will make it absolutely necessary for the general council to levy higher taxes for the next two years in order to continue the work already begun. Our situation is so serious and menacing that we cannot afford to stop the work. We must complete the new waterworks system, no matter what it costs, and if our citizens neglect this opportunity to secure the system, and pay for it in the next thirty years, there will be no alternative but to increase the taxes and raise the money in the next year or two. The city charter authorizes this extra tax levy for emergency purposes, and this is certainly an emer-

When the matter is presented in this light no man can doubt the economy of issuing the water bonds.

Right here it is well to repeat the statement that two-thirds of the registered vote will be necessary to carry the bonds. We cannot afford to lose a vote. Every legal voter should go to the polls and cast his bailot for the bonds if he is able to walk or ride. This is a matter of vital importance, and it is feared that if the average percentage of stay-at-home voters is the same today as at previous elections the water bonds will be defeated. The situation should stimulate every friend of Atlanta to make his vote tell today, and he should do his level best to get his neighbors to vote with him. A full vote today for the water bonds means low taxes, and the construction of the new water system by free labor. The defeat of the bonds means higher taxes at a time when our people can least afford to pay them, and the possible enforced use of convict labor. Vote for the water bonds!

Tannessee and the Miners

The miners in East Tennessee have been permitted to defy the law altogether too long. At first the public felt inclined to sympathize with them to a certain extent. but their continued lawlessness has turned all good citizens against them, and the people clamor for prompt and decisive action on the part of the authorities.

Govenor Buchanan is on the right line when he says that he will send the convicts back to the mines if he has to call out every able-bodied man in Tennessee. It is the governor's duty to enforce the law, whether it is good or bad. The fact that a law is objectionable to a certain class or ele ment does not justify their forcible resistance. Our telegrams yesterday and Colonel J. W. Renfroe's letter in another column show that these outlaw miners will not be satisfied with anything that is reasonable. After destroying thousands of dollars worth of valuable property and driving off the convicts, these desperadoes refused to accept the employment of free labor as a settlement of the problem. They proceeded at the muzzle of the shotgun to run off all the negro laborers, although they were worked separately. Colonel Renfroe made a bold stand for his rights, and as soon as the lawbreakers found that warrants had been issued for their arrest they left the neighborhood, with the exception of two who were captured. The law-abiding citizens and quite a number of the miners favor the vigorous enforcement of the law. If Governor Buchanan will now take the proper steps to uphold the law, preserve order, protec property and bring the outlaws to justice, he will be overwhelmingly supported and the lawless class of miners will leave the state. o her policy will plunge East Tennessee into anarchy, drive off good citizens, and keep capital and enterprise away for another gen ration. It is no time now to discuss the claims of the miners. The supreme duty of the hour is the enforcement of the law.

An Absurd Campaign Dodge. The latest and most absurd campaign dodge is the charge that the new waterworks will be built by convict labor if the citizens' ticket is elected. It is the purpose of the inventors and circulators of this charge on the eve of the election to excite the prejudices of the advocates of free labor.

Now, there is not a man on the citizens' ticket who favors convict labor. Every man on that ticket is for free labor, and it has never entered their heads to authorize convict labor on the waterworks, and the water commissioners have never even considered the matter.

Atlanta is a free labor city and will continue so, and the new waterworks will be constructed by free labor.

In only one way is it possible for the work to be done by convict labor, and that is by the defeat of the water bonds. in which event the council is authorized to levy an extra emergency tax. In the hope of making this tax as low as possible, it may become necessary to make use of convict labor, but this can only result from the defeat of the bonds

If the bonds are authorized by today's rote there will be no convict labor on the new waterworks.

Let every voter do his duty today.

The Superior Courtroom. It is to be hoped that the county commis sioners at their meeting today will rescind their order directing the superior courtroom to be cut in two.

Accommodations will have to be provided for the new criminal court, but the members of the bar seriously object to the proposed plan. There will be no economy in having small. uncomfortable and badly ventilated rooms, and in a short time better quarters will be imperatively demanded as a matter of necessity. The addition of another story to the courthouse has been suggested. Undoubtedly, it will be possible to make satisfactory arrangements without ruining the present superior courtroom, which is hardly large enough with its existing dimensions.

More than once in the history of Atlanta we have incurred unnecessary expense by planning our public buildings and other improvements with a view to providing only for the needs of the hour. The rapid growth of the population of the city and the county has forced us to make many changes, some of which would have been avoided if we had looked far

The courthouse is now occupied by four courts. In a few years new tribunals will be created, and it is evident that the makeshift policy of crowding them into smaller quarters will not do. Our past experience makes it plain that we must build for the

WATER BONDS.

There Should Be Absolutely No Opposition to Them.

THE REASONS HERE PRESENTED.

Don't Be Bluffed. But Go to the Polls and Vote for the Bonds-Interesting Interview with Judge Hillyer.

Save the water bonds! Let every man who has the good of Atanta at heart turn out today and, whatever be his convictions on other issues, vote

FOR WATER BONDS.

This is absolutely essential. The need of new waterworks system is a crying one. Everybody in Atlanta knows that the glaring possibility of drought which became almost a probability during the summer must have impressed that fact very forcibly upon the minds of every resident of Atlanta. The present situation of the old works emphasizes this need for the new.

There is no use mincing words. The newspapers have said but little concerning the rapidly decreasing supply of water upon which the city has to depend, fearing that during the summer, especially, a plain statement of the facts would create dangerous alarm among the people. But Atlanta needs the new waterworks-must have them. The good work has been begun, but the issuance of these additional bonds is abso lutely necessary. They must be issued, and

So much for the necessity. It is just within the past few days that any opposition to the bonds has developed. This must be from a misunderstanding of the situation. The water board has neve for a moment contemplated using convicts in the construction of the works, and there is no possibility of that being done if the bonds are voted.

As Judge Hillyer points out so clearly in the interview given below, there is very much more likelihood of the necessity of using convicts if the bonds fail of carrying. If the bends carry, the authorities in charge of the work will have sufficient money to hire free labor for it. It they fail to carry, it will then be necessary to use all the resources at the city' command, and that means, of necessity the employment of the city's convicts on the work. It is a plain proposition. It is in the interest of no ticket or of no

Another feature of Judge Hillyer's in terview should be emphasized. That is the possibility of an "emergency tax" being levied to complete the works. For the work must go on, and the city has the right to levy such a tax.

The greatest danger is that there will not be a full vote. Every man who has the right to vote must understand that it is his duty to do so. Strong efforts are being made to keep people away from the polls. That is the meaning of the illegal registration agitation-that and nothing else.

Of course if there has been any illegal registration, it should be unearthed; and people who are honest in their endeavor to unearth it should have full credit. But the present agitation shows upon its face that it is simply and solely a big bluff to keep people away from the polls.

That is easily capable of demonstration The few arrests that have been made simply serve to accentuate the fact that the move ment is meant as a bluff to keep people away from the polls.

There is the greatest danger. To carry the water bonds there must be a full vote, whether there is opposition or not. Everybody should vote. Don't stay away from the polls. Atlanta needs your vote-needs ticket bears the words

FOR WATER BONDS.

No matter what municipal ticket you vote, see that you vote for the bonds. JUDGE HILLYER TALKS.

He Replies to Some Opposition to the Issuance of the Water Bonds.

Judge Hillyer was asked if he had seen the suggestion as to the use of convict labor in struction of the new waterworks. He replied that he had seen the matter mentioned in one of the evening papers; but had not seen the other. He said further, with emphasis, "that should the water bonds to be voted on tomorrow be carried in the election, there would be no necessity for the use of convict labor in the construction of the new waterworks, that it was very greatly to be desired that the bonds should c arry, and that no such vexed question should come into the enter

"But," said he, "suppose the bonds should be defeated tomorrow from the lack of the two-thirds vote, then the question would be under imperative and overmastering necessity, what is the city to do? It has already be suggested for one thing, and with great force, that the council will have to levy an 'extra ordinary or emergency tax,' not by increasing the assessment, but under power contained i he charter authorizing the city to levy an extraordinary tax in 'case of emergen city code of 1891, page twenty-five. But this would only furnish a small fraction of what is seeded. Then the argument would be that the city must call to her aid every other possible resource."

He read the law, to be found at page 115 of the city code of 1891, section 244, in which the city is authorized to work convicts "without reference to proportion and population be-tween the city and the county outside of the city," and the only limitation as to they shall be worked is in the discretion of the public authorities. Under this provision the convicts are now seen daily working on the streets of the city, usually, it is true, toward the suburbs and sometimes on side streets "and speaking out of the instincts of a full heart," he added, "I will say it is not a pleasant sight either." But the argument would be, that should the bonds fail to come, there would be an ab lute necessity for using the convicts in building the reservoir, and other necessary grading for the new waterworks. That the work or the streets stop for a while, but that the people must not be allowed to perish for water, nor the city be endangered from fire, and having no sufficient amount of money or other re ces, and no means of paying any labor that the city would have to put the convicts to work on the reservoir as a matter of neces-

"But now," said the judge, "I suggest that we obviate all this by the peeple voting the $500,000 of bonds, under the submission made to them at the polls tomorrow. The proceeds of these bonds are sacredly devoted, by law, to the building of the new waterworks, and can't be used, not a dollar of it, for any other purpose but the waterworks. The city would thus have reasonably ample means to hire free labor with which to do the work, and there would be no necessity, and nobody could argue in favor of any necessity, for using the convict labor on the waterworks; and thus all differences of opinion, if there be such among our people, on this subject, would be accommo-people, on this subject, would be accommodated and any dispute about it obviated.

"Let every friend of labor, and every man who desires the waterworks built by fre who desires the waterworks built by free labor, come out and vote for the bonds, and thus furnish the city with funds with which to hire the free labor and pay for it. It is the most powerful argument that could be invented or suggested in favor of issuing the bonds and in favor of free labor from that standpoint, and ought to bring out the vote of every laboring man in the city, in favor of the

"Of course," said Judge Hillyer, "in the replies I give you, I am not talking about the between the tickets or the respective andidates on either of the tickets. I am talking about the question of whether the city should issue the water bends or defeat them, and my argument relates to the measure upo which the people are to vote, and not to an question of contest between the candidates.

MORE MINERS' TROUBLE.

White Miners Turn Against Negro Fre

Constitution: Less than a month ago a lot of miners and their confederates, less than one hundred in number, liberated the convicts at this place, burned the prison, stockade and all other buildings connected therewith, and an alektory place, burned the prison, stockade and all other buildings connected therewith, and an eight-room boarding house and office outside of the stockade, and carried away eight fine breech-loading shot-guns, putting some of them in the hands of lib-erated convicts. This company then employed all free miners, both white and colored, who applied for work, working the two reast sangles, and all for work, working the two races separate, and all went on well until Wednesday night last, when a the west of west units we under the same and some instances shooting through the doors, and all that saved their lives was that they happened not to be in range; also threatening to bu not to be in range; also threatening to burn the houses down on them, and chasing some of them down the road as far as they could see them. Yesterday some of the negroes came back and asked protection until they could get their families and property away, and for once in my life I stood guard most of the night, with gun in hand, to protect peaceable negroes from lawless whites. This state of affairs, I regret to say, is largely attributable to the press, a part of it at least, which tributable to the press, a part of it at least, which has from the very beginning taken sides with, upbeld, and given encouragement to these violators I can remember when the press felt it their duty to uphold the majesty of the law and hold up the hands of the officers whose duty it is to enforce it, but when newspapers do not condemn violence against law I feel that the time is near at hand when mob law, communism, etc., will have full sway in this country.

We have the names of ten of these violators of law, and warrants have been issued for them, and they have skipped the country, and the other miners have quit work. These men are paid the highest price paid in this country, and make from $2 to $4 per duy, and no tone single pay day has ever passed without getting their money promptly, never hving to wait one hour. And these are the men of whom it is said "they want justice, and when they see a disposition on the part of the rulin g powers to meet them half way, they will be reasonably conservative in their demands," and, "sooner or later, the cause of free labor will triumph in Tennessee and other states."

If they are to "triumph" over those who have invested their money in developing the resources and building up industries of this country any more than they do now, the day is not far distant when capitalists will not only refuse to invest their money here, but will also withdraw what they have invested. The masses are not with them. The good people of this country are rapidly turning against them.

Mr. Robert Brower, who is one of the veteran theatrical men of the country, was talking at the Kimball yesterday about one of the brightest men in the country, Henry Guy Carleton. "I spent some weeks with Mr. Carleton this summer," said Mr. Brower, "and to say that he is a versatile and wonderrul genius is to express it mildly. Yesterday was the busiest day passed by the apporters of the two tickets. It being the day before the election the workers were in earnest.

The anti-barroom movement flooded the streets with all kinds of circulars, covered with all kinds of campaign stories. One of these circulars had the picture of

The citizens' ticket got out no circulars.

They felt that the result was a foregone conclusion, and the only question was a question as to the majority.

He will be assisted by Mrs. Dykeman, Mr. and Mrs. Brisben and a number of other of Atlanta's leading musiciams. The charge is nominal and a large audience will doubtless be present.

THE LITTLE WAIP.

The Baby Found on the Street the Subject of Much Discussion.

IS IT A WHITE OR BLACK CHILD?

A Mysterious Message—Was Born on a Georgia Pacific Train—Its Mother a Beauty.

The bright little girl baby found on Fair street, by the negro boys, Monday evening, and sent to the home for the friendless, was the subject of much discussion and gossip yester-

'Whose baby is it, anyhow?" "Where did it come from?

"What are they going to do with it?"
These questions were hard to answer, and,up to late last night, no one was found that could answer them satisfactorily. The detectives worked on the case for some time and thought two or three times they were in a fair way of ascertaining its parentage, but failure met all

About 6 o'clock last evening a telephone message was received at police headquarters requesting two detectives to go at once to the union depot. It was a feminine voice making the request, and when the speaker was asked for what purpose the detectives were wanted she refused for some time to give any satisfactory information.

She was finally told that there was no use of the detectives going to the depot unless they were told for what they were wanted. She then said if they would go to the place indicated and wait awhile they would find the mother of that baby. She gave a description of the alleged mother, and said that she was going to leave the city on one of the early evening trains.

Captain John A. Thompson and Detective Cason hurried to the depot and went through a waiting process of about an hour, but no one put in an appearence filling the description iven of the party.

They returned to the station house to ascer-hence and from whom the message came, but here they met another mystery. The number of the telephone station from which the message was sent could not be ascertained. Is It a White Child? Among the large number of people who called on the new resident there was decidedly a difference of opinion as to whether it was a white child.

Captain Thompson said: "There is no doubt in my mind that the child is part negro. I know a white baby when I see it." Others concurred in this opinion, but there ere a great many who hooted at such an idea, declaring the child was white beyond a doubt.

Here's a Nice Theory. It was reported vesterday and rumored that the mother of the child was a prominent Chat-The people who advanced this theory were very reticent about details, but insisted that they had good grounds upon which to base

A negro woman was found who had posses aion of the child for about a week. She lives in the western portion of the city, near the Atlanta coffin factory, and she says the child was born on a Georgia Pracific train about ten days ago. She was on the train at the time. She says that the mother of the child was accompanied by a young man with a heavy mustache. On arriving in Atlanta the couple with the baby went to the Gate City hotel. They asked the negrees for her address and she gave it. A day or two later the man brought the child and left it in her charge for a few days.

On Monday afternoon another man called for the child and paid the woman $5 for caring for it and took it away.

Mrs. Razland, the lady who keeps the Gate City hotel, confirmed the part of the story about the couple and the baby being guests of her house. She said the man registered as Richard Leach, and that the couple left last Thursday in a hack, but whether they left the city or not she is unable to say. It is, however, her opinion that they did not. She said that the mother of the child was a beautiful blonde woman of the highest education and refinement.

lantic yard tracks a few days ago, was given a preliminary trial yesterday.

Davis was carried before Justice Owens and a strong array of damaging circumstantial evidence was produced against him. Several witnesses were introduced, and the testimony was mainly that Ivy and Davis had been engaged in a difficulty on the afternoon before Ivy was found dead at 9 o'clock at night, and that Davis threatened his life.

Davis found trouble in substantiating his statement about where he spent the night that Ivy was killed. He claimed that he went to West End in the evening and did not return till next morning. The testimony of the witnesses introduced to prove the aibi, was exceedingly unsatisfactory. Davis was bound over and sent to jail. The amount of his bond has not been fixed.

Tenor Solo—"Could I But Say,"... Roeckel \(^{\alpha}\)\) "Kr. William Owens.

Soprano Solo—"Afterwards,"... Mullen \(^{\alpha}\)\) Miss Elia Powell Piano Solo—"Polonaise,"... Wollenhaupt \(^{\alpha}\)\) "I. M. Mayer.

The opening numbers served to introduce Mr. I.
M. Mayer to his addience. His dainty yet forceful and purely intellectual rendering of the poetic "song without words" and the graceful and fiery "valse," evoked unrestrained manifestations of approval. He used a superb Steinway concert grand. Later, in the impassioned and difficult "Polonaise" he electrified his hearers, whose vehement plaudits could not be stilled till he had played an encore.

Mr. William Owens thrilled his listeners when he sang "Could I But Say," and emphasized his success when he gave (Mr. Simpson playing a violin obligato) "Protestations," a delicious tenor solo. His singing satisfies even the severe critics, and delights all grades of musical listeners.

Miss Ella Powell is as graceful as she is sweet-voiced, and she captivated all by her soulfu rendering of Mullen's "Afterwards," and by her spirited and highly artistic singing of "Perche."

She was encored.

Mr. Harold G. Simpson sustained his high reputation as a sole violinist by his finished rendering of "Fautaiste Caprice," one of those difficult compositions of Vieuxtemps's, and by his bold, broad and animated playing, in conjunction with Mr. Mayer, of a grand due for piane and violin by Wolff and Delkeriet.

WANT A SCHOOLHOUSE,

And They Think That It Would Prove a Splendid Building if on the Jail Grounds 'That's a good idea about moving the jail," said Colonel Chapman yesterday.
"What do the residents near it think?" was asked.

"They are anxious to have a schoolhouse there," continued the revenue agent. "I live among them and talk with them, and I assure you they could not be better pleased. The third ward, too, needs another schoolhouse, and that seems a spiendid location. Aside of the needs of a more suitable jail, the the needs of a more suitable jail, the building has long been a handicap to the upbuilding of the section round about it and its removal would make property in the neighborhood much more valuable, would locate there an excellent class of citizens, who would build homes that would prove an ornament instead of the huts that are now the contart."

The residents near the jail are thinking of holding a meeting shortly to agitate the matter. The desire to see a schoolhouse where the jail now stands is strong and they intend having the change if work on their part will accomplish it.

Why not use that $5.00 for something else? It's saved sure. On an Overcoat---the $20.00 to $30 ones. Examine one of the garments. Travel the own over and see if vou can match it within $5.00 of our price.

We have nearly 1,500 Overcoats. All the usual sizes and shapes, and a good many unusual, in truth, odd shapes: asCoats for very tall, very short, long armed, long geared, short necked, short armed, thick through men. For all these peculiar propor tions we have a good fitting garment. Eiaser, of course, to call a tailor down to cut an inch or more off the tail or sleeves, or to move buttons--leaving the collar to stick up over the ears. But no; we don't put the Overcoat of

Mr. Skyscraper on Mr. Rotundity. It's foolish to try. That's not our way. We fit every customer suitably, stylishly, satisfactorily. The price range is $12, $15, $16.50, $17.50, $18, $20 and up to $35

We could go to New York, within half a week have twenty carloads of Clothing emptied into our store. But it wouldn't be our kind. Not the class you've been buying, and that you expect us to furnish. It would be cheap enough. We could make lots of money by its sale. It wouldn't be like ours.

First. It wouldn't be all wool. We couldn't te nor you, whether the cloth was strong and good. We couldn't tell whether the trimming was fine and durable. We couldn't determine its quality. We couldn't rip the seams and see if it was sewed with silk or cotton. We know it would not have the fashion and form—nor would it be so perfect fitting. There are a thousand and one things-details that enter into the making of proper Clothing. Our safety and your satisfaction depends on our own manufacture.

Colonel Gibson Returns Home with His Prisoner.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Colonel Gibson, of Richmond, Tex., accompanied by Stephenson, returned to his distant home.

Just before boarding the train Stephenson said to a reporter of THE CONSTITUTION "Did you ever see a happier prisoner than I am? Well, I am very glad to return to my home and meet my mother and sister and old friends. I do not fear standing my trial, for I am not guilty. The reason why I was charged with being implicated in that murder is because I was one of Bond's friends and supporters. I was pretty tough in those days and was mixed up in several difficulties, but had nothing in the world to do with this affair. I had (heard Bond and was mixed up in several dimenties, but had nothing in the world to do with this affair. I had (heard Bond swear he was going to get even with Belton; was going to kill 'that d—n nigger,' but he was a good deal of a boaster, and I didn't take any stock in his threats. He always went armed to the teeth and would shoot, too, if he got into a fight. The reason why Bond wanted to put Belton out of the way was because he had used his influence with the best class of negroes to vote against Bond's gang. Belton was an intelligent darky and owned some property. Bond went to his house and had one of his pais to call him to the door, when he shot him dead. The killing caused some excitement, and in those days there were plenty of shootings and killings."

"So you had no connection whatever with the murder?"

"None in the world, as God is my judge. But the very next day I heard whisperings about Richmond that the people believed I was mixed up with the murder of Belton, so I thought I had better get away as fast as possible. I went away and visited some towns in Arkansas and Missiasippi and Tennessee, and went as far as North Carolina. I didn't have any trade, and it was mighty hard for me to earn a living, so I had a tough time in my wanderings. I simply got tired out, and when I reached Atlanta some weeks ago, was without money. So I thought the best I could do was to give up to the sheriff, and I did it. I was just as much in my right mind as ever I was or I am now."

"Before I start," the Texan concluded, "I want to say that I appreciate the good treatment Sheriff Morrow and Jailer Maddox and all the other officers have shown me. They treated me just as kind as possible."

"And I wish to remark," said Colonel Gibson, as the train was about moving off, "that I am mightily pleased with Atlanta. I had heard so much about the Gate City that I wanted to see it for myself. I heard Mr. Grady's great speech in Texas several years ago, and I wanted to see Atlanta because it was his home, and wanted to make the acquaintance

THE COUNTY COURTHOUSE.

Gossip Gathered Yesterday in the Various Departments. Judge Marshall J. Clarke granted a charter, which was petitioned for several weeks ago, to the Jerusalem branch of the Life of the Righteous, a charitable association.

A charter was also given the Clemiana Chemical Company. The incorporators are W. K. Mower, John W. Ried, Harry McKay and A. M. Lewell. The capital stock is $10,000, with the privilege of increasing it to $100,000. The company proposes to manufacture, sell and buy all kinds of drugs and chemicals, and to do a general business in this line. Judge Howard Van Epps is not holding court this week. The regular term will begin Judge Howard Van Epps is not holding court this week. The regular term will begin next Monday, and two branches of the city court will be running at the same time. Judge Westmoreland will preside over one of these courts. Both courts will try only civil cases. Judge Westmoreland held his criminal court a few hours yesterday morning, and several negroes were convicted of larceny from the house and sent to the chaingang.

For the past week Solicitor General Hill has been immersed in business preparing for the approaching term of Judge Richard H. Clark's court. He says he will have one of the heaviest dockets ever known. There will be at least one murder case, and many other trials in which the public is particularly interested. Dr. Mel Martin's case will come up early in the term. If a new trial is granted Peter Daniels, his trial will also occur. Other cases which will excite unusual interest are those of Tom Minor, indicted for assault and battery with intent to kill; Mr. Gordon Hurtel and Mr. Jack Hastings. Mr. Hill says that almost every kind of criminal known to the law is docketed for trial.

It is reported that the grand jury when it meets next Monday will, in a body, proceed to the jail and make another thorough investigation of the building.

The meeting of the county commissioners this morning will be full of important business. The committee of lawyers will wait upon the commissioners and urge them to modify their plans for changing the interior of the county courthouse. It is expected that the jail matter will also be fully discussed. At a former meeting the commissioners passed a resolution that a new jail, should be built, but the matter rested there and has never been since brought up. This action was caused by the report of the grand jury which said the jail was a disgrace to Fulton county and that a new one should be built. Several other matters of importance will come before the board.

Yesterday was the busiest day that Tax Collector Andy Stewart and his assistants have known this year. Voters

ANOTHER CHANGE MADE

In the Faculty of the Southern Medical

Another change has been made in the faculty of the Southern Medical college, but this time it is devoid of a sensation.

Dr. J. B. Baird has resigned the chair of practice, and Dr. C. S. Webb has been appointed to succeed him.

Everything seems to be working smoothly with this institution now, and the utmost har mony prevails among its corps of professors.

A LETTER FROM BISHOP NELSON. His Consecration Will Occur at St. Luke's

He says that he quits his work in South Betha-lehem with a great deal of sorrow and only because of entering on a more imperial work at the head of the diocess of Georgia.

BACK FROM AUGUSTA.

and Thoroughly Satisfied with the Recent Exposition.

Colonel I. W. Avery returned last night from a visit to the Augusta exposition.

He was very much pleased with the display, and says that the electric and trades' exhibits were particularly fine.

"There was almost every kind of machinery you could think of run by electricity, from sewing machines to buzz-saws," said the colonel. "It was marvelous, to say the least of it," he continued, "and pointed in no uncertain way to the cortainty of electricity becoming the future motor to the exclusion of everything.

"The kirmess, with its 150 young ladies, dressed in all the costumes of the world, proved a greater attraction than King Solomon, and cost many thousand dollars less."

"And Colonel Pat Waish was the moving and directing spirit of the whole enterprise," said Colonel Avery, "and every one in Augusta agreed that to him more than any one was due the wonderful success of the Augusta exposition."

NEW YORK, December 1—[Special.]—"Unrealized prophecy" is apily assigned as the cause of today's deciline in the cotton market. The trade is commencing to feel itself deceived, as day after day passes and receipts show no dimunition, but rather an excess as compared with last year. It is now in the mood that disregards everything but the facts and figures of the daily movement, and as these are today overwhelmingly large the market is weak both here and in Liverpool. In the latter market contracts closed weak fully 1-16d below yesterday, and at 2 o'clock prices here showed a decline of from 10@11 points. Predictions of

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, December I.—The stock market today was still very dull, but there was a little life given it in the afternoon by a renewal of the bear raids, with the effect of depressing a few stocks materially and the general-list slightly. The bears were again in the market under the leadership of Cammack, and, while their attacks were directed chiefly against Richmond and West Point, Missouri Pacific and Coal stocks, they sold the whole list. Their operations were aided at one time by a report of the death of Cyrus W. Field, but it became quickly known that Field has no large interests in the stock market, either speculative or investment. The pressure upon Missouri Pacific, which was made the special feature of the afternoon's trading, was also helped by the circuthe afternoon's trading, was also helped by the circulation of rumors in regard to the company's floating debt. In the forenoon Ohio and Mississippi was one feature developing great strength under purchases o movement stopped there and activity in the stock reased. The market opened this morning with a firm one, notwithstanding the dullness, and the limited notwithstanding the dullness, and the limited and which appeared was sufficient, as long as a were allowed to take their natural course, to see quotations further small fractions. With the prices were allowed to take their natural course, to advance quotations further small fractions. With the culmination of the rise in Ohio and Mississippi the bears became aggressive, and prices dropped all over the list, and the early advances in the general list were soon wiped out, while Missouri Pacified dropped from 60½ to 58%, Reading from 39 to 37%, and Richmond and West Point from 11 to 9½—the lowest point it has ever sold at. Delaware and Hudson also joined the procession, falling from 123 to 111½. The pressure was maintained right up to the last sales, and the market tolsed quiet to dull but heavy at the lowest prices of the day, though the great majority of stocks were only slightly lower than the opening figures. Missouri Pacific, however, scored a net loss of 2 per cent; Richmond and West Point, 1%, and Delaware and Hudson, 1½ per cent. The sales of listed stocks aggregated 164,00% shares; unlisted, 8,0.0. stock 5,156.

Cahn & Co.'s Stock Letter. By Private Wire to Younghlood & Hans

NEW YORK, December 1.-The European market was about as dull as ours, and although the quotations were a little better on the other side, still they did ittle or no buying. A big buying order which was ex-ecuted in Chicago, Burlington and Quincy at the opening gave tone to the entire market. The market was epening gave tone to the entire market. The market was fairly strong in the first hour, but after that the old weakness in Richmond Terminal cropped out again, and, judging by the selling, it seemed to be entirely long stock by people well informed about the financial status of the company. The syndicate of bankers that had been at work since a week trying to reorganize the finances of this unhappy company, have no doubt found that they have a very difficult problem to solve. We think the outcome will be a receivership and a possible assessment on the stock. When the litigation does set in it will be a good thing for the lawyers, as there are so many contending interests involved that there are so many contending interests involved that the courts will have to settle the greater part of the troubles. At about 1 o'clock a rumor was circulated that Mr. Cyrus W. Field had died. The market, led by Missouri Pacific, sold off considerably, but when the report was denied prices did not rally. The exposures that have come to light the last few days regarding the affairs of Field, Lindley & Co., are of a serious nature, showing that the assets of the rubed house showing that the assets of the rubed house showing that the assets of the rubed house some showing that the assets of the ruined house amount to virtually nothing. This has, to a certain extent, shaker confidence, and we expect to see it reflected in the stock market. The Coalers are also weak and the meeting percentages for the coming year is to take place.
Then the unsettled affairs of the kichmond inal Company will help to bring about a reaction stock market, although the outside conditions in very favorable.

opening, giving the market rather a firm appearance the greater portion of the session. Late foreign markets were reported lower. The shipments to England and the continent during the past four months are reported to largely exceed the requirement for that period. When the parties who bought early, attempted to sell out, the market showed great weakness and closed about 1 cent lower than yesterday. The large stocks of human food and the risk of carrying until spring, or until it is wanted, is the discouraging feature for holders of wheat. A number of our most successful speculators are strongly of the opinion that May wheat will decline very nearly to 90c.

Corn was strong the fore part of the seasion, but, like wheat, declined, closing heavy. Sample lots of ungraded were in rather better demand and were disposed of at a shade higher prices than yesterday.

Nothing doing in oats in a speculative way; sample lots in good demand at rather better prices.

The extraordinary large receipts of hogs and several good lines of old December pork, was more than the 1994 1485 804 1540 15725 9149 571 1216 876 1050 15424 9315 1410 1743 1717 1845 18117 9213 howed a decline of from 10@11 points. Predictions of "falling off next week" are not wanting, and almost every letter reaching us from the south reiterates and confirms previous estimates of a short production, but the daily total of "bales" negatives their veracity, and speculation is a condition of skepticism that will be followed by a decline unless receipts fall off. After 2 followed by a decline unless receipts fall off.

o'clock the market continued weak, closing finally easy at a net decline of 130d is points on the day. The depression during the last hour, however, was in a measure artificial, and due to the efforts of the bear clique, whose courage always seems greatest upon the weakest market. Receipts are 50,000 bales, which is 5,000 bales less than last year, but a heavy day is expected tomorrow, and operators have been selling in anticipapation at these prices. It is necessary that every train on the bear schedule should make prompt connection in order not to be side-tracked.

ownward one. It is absolutely impossible, in the face of the many disappointments that have been prevalent of late, to be positive. There is no gainsaying the fact that values are certainly reasonable, but in the lifeless state of the market we may fail even somewhat lower. In the end, however, we think that we shall again see better things, and that purchases on a conservative scale are in order.

Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, December I.—Wheat was strong and advancing during the forencon today, but later it grew weak and made a decided slump, closing materially lower. The influence which governed its movements were chiefly local; the early news was chiefly of a bear, ish character. The fear of a December liquidation which has been a depressing factor for some time lost its influence, after the deliveries today, and this with a steady decline which has been going on for some time, led to some buying by the friends of wheat, while the selling furor was somewhat checked. The result was a steady advance. December opened he lower closing cables, together with the increased stocks at Liverpool, created a weakness. There was a good deal of wheat thrown on the market on long account, bought early, and some short wheat. December dropped on the last hour to 90 he and closed at 90 he

Liverpool came easier; and, although the public cables were not so discouraging the private advices were all of an unfavorable character. There was apparently considerable liquidation again at that center, which was made more or less difficult by the persistent bearish efforts of a number of operators on that side. Here the same conditions prevail, and throughout the day, although prices soon after opening became steady, there was an incessant flow of sales for long account. The receipts are unusually heavy, New Orleans having again come in with about 21,000 bales. The tendency of values under these circumstances has naturally been a downward one. It is absolutely impossible, in the face of the many disappointments that have been prevalent world's fair at the great Columbian exposition in Chicago.

We are assured that the great majority of the editors of both daily and weekly papers have received an invitation and personal letter. Two hundred and fifty were sent out, and answers have been received from nearly two hundred Lest, however, owing to our imperfect information as to new publications and new editors, or owing to unintentional oversight on the part of our secretary, some gentlemen of the press entitled to these invitations as editors of newspapers in the state may have failed to receive an invitation we hereby invite the editors of the newspapers in the state of Georgia to be present in Macon and attend the convention which will be held in the Academy of Music on Friday, December 4th. The first session will commence at half-past 11 o'clock a. m., when speeches of welcome will be delivered by representatives of the local press and the city.

We further ask you to be the guest of the city of Macon during your stay with us. Accommodation will be provided at the Hotel Lanier and Brown

The representatives of the railroads have assured us that transportation will be furnished to editors applying for passes to this convention. The motto of this committee—and we are assured that the press of the state is with us—is: "Georgia must be represented at the world's fair." Come to this convention, come as the benefactors of and workers for the interest of the Empire State. Mr. Hirsch Arousing Its Friends to

Action. "Please say for me," Mr. Joseph Hirsch said yesterday afternoon to a reporter of THE CONSTITUTION, "that all the chances for the piano and the buggy have not been taken."

"These chances," Mr. Hirsch continued 'are worth 50 cents each. The plane, which s a very valuable one, is at the music store of Freyer & Bradley. Before it is raffled at least 500 more chances ought to be taken."

"How are your various enterprises for the benefit of the hospital coming on?" "Very well, indeed. The opera club is already an assured success. I bank a good ical on this. We ought to clear between two and three thousand dollars, anyhow. I could not attend the rehearsal last Monday night but I'll be there next Monday night certain The people of Atlanta will be amazed when the 'Pirates of Penzance' is produced. It will be a gorgeous representation of this favorite opera."

"And your proposed fair?"

"That matter is at present at a standstill, but it will not be long before you will have something interesting to report about it. I something interesting to report about it. I expect to call upon the ladies soon to begin work. The idea is to hold the fair in the hospital building. It will be the biggest thing of the sortever given in Atlanta. And there are some other enterprises I have in view. In the meantime, however, I wish people would go by the hundreds and buy tickets for the rafile."

in Justice Owens's court.

The detectives have been working faithfully on the cases against them, and have a good-sized book full of evidence ready to submit to 'Squire Owens today.

One dead sure case against them is the theft of a lot of smoking tobacco, cigarettes and cigars from a lady on Spring street. The Bones and some of their pals walked into the lady's store a few nights ago, and while some of them engaged her attention the others stole the smoking material. A large box full of smoking tobacco, cigarettes and cigars were recovered the night of the raid on the queen's castle.

A few days ago a large millinery firm in the city reported the loss of $500 worth of feathers, and about $50 worth of these were recovered in the raid. In these two cases and several others there is sufficient evidence to insure conviction. It is also believed that Lem Bone is the confidence man that worked the South Carolinian for $70 on a Georgia railroad train. The description given by the gentleman of the confidence man suits Lem Bone exactly. The detectives are at work securing evidence in this case.

A GEORGIA EXHIBIT. BOWDON LITHIA

Nature's Great Restorative!

Its Marvelous Results and Its Superiority over All Others.

On the 26th of August last there appeared in The Atlanta Constitution, in flaming head lines, the following advertisement of Thos. F. Good, proprietor of the Buffalo, Lithia Springs: BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

THE BOWDON LITHIA WATER.

"A chance for the Bowdon Lithia Springs Company to make $5,000 if that company can adduce any such evidence of the virtue of its water as presented in the case of Governor Holt in its solvent properties in Renal Calculi and Stone in the Bladder, he would present that company with $5,000" Acting on this proposition of Mr. Good, presuming he intended to make good his offer, we went forward and presented two well authenticated cases which justly entitled us to the money, and we then drew on him for the $5,000. Our draft was returned dishonored, stating in his refusal to pay he did not know the parties, neither did he owe them anything. We propose before we get through with him, if we should fail to get the $5,000, he shall at least know who we are, and we will not charge him anything for the information. Now Thos. F. Good comes forward again with another proposition, under date of October 18th, in which he proposes to pay our company $500 if we will place our springs for twenty-four hours under the control of three disinterested parties, with the privilege of taking from the spring a sufficient quantity of water to be analized by Professor Doremus, with the proviso that it confirms or approximates first analysis of Professor Doremus. Thomas F. Gord admits in this proposition that he sent his agent, Professor H. C. White, who, uninvited, gathered the water from one of our springs, said agent being unknown personally to any of our company, and gathered the water, if he did so at all, without our knowledge or consent. Now Mr. Good reports the analysis of his agent, Professor White, to contain one grain and a fractional part of a grain of Lithium to the imperial gallon, whereas we have in our possession a letter from Pro fessor White himself, stating his analysis showed two grains Lithium to the imperial gallon. We ask, will the public endorse any such crookedness as this on the part of Mr. Good? We will give him some advice, and that, too, without any charge: That hereafter, if he continues to practice his methods of attempting to secure the analysis of competing springs, that he and his agent ought to more fully understand each other, so that their statements may agree one

We now make this proposition to Mr. Good: If he will place himself right before the public by coming forward and paying to us the $5,000 to which we are entitled, then we will agree to place our two springs, and require him to place his two springs in the hands of capable and impartial chemists and make a thorough analysis of both waters, and if our springs do not show a larger amount of Lithium to the imperial gallon than the Buffalo Lithia, or fail to indicate better results for which the use of the water is indicated than the Buffalo Lithia springs, then in that event we will agree to return to him the $5,000 and pay ourselves five hundree ($500) dollars for the analysis of both waters.

Professor Waller, of Columbia College, New York, analysis shows .013 grains Lithium per imperial gallon in the Buffalo Lithia water. "What have you to say about this analysis, Mr. Good?" We repeat that the Bowdon Lithia Water is the best on the continent. The use of it will verify our claim to this distinction. Those, therefore, wanting Lithia water send your orders to the Bowdon Lithia Springs Co., Lithia Springs P. O., Ga., and you will be sure of

MRS. BRANTLY TAKES AN APPEAL

And Refuses to Abide Judge Hopkins's Decision-The Case Will Be Heard in Two Courts Today.

Mrs. Stewart Phinizy, of Augusta, gets pretty little Julia Stovall. Judge John L. Hopkins so decided

But little Julia is still in the possession of Mrs. Nita Brantly, for all that, and the fight for her is not yet ended.

Although Mrs. Brantly's attorneys had, on Saturday, signed an agreement with the attorneys of Mrs. Phinizy, Judge Hopkins's decision was repudiated by them, and they declared that the would not be bound

There was the written agreement, how ever, and Judge Hopkins's decision giving the child to Mrs. Phinizy, and all that was necessary on the part of Mrs. Phinizy's attorneys to obtain possession of little Julia was to have her taken in custody by Deputy Sheriff Barnes, who was present.

They preferred, as they state, not to create a scene, or be placed in the position of using undue force to obtain the child, and decided to wait for the result of the habeas corpus cases now pending.

Mrs. Brantly Weeps. Judge Hopkins had announced that he would render his decision at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Just a few minutes before that time Mrs. Brantly, little Julia Stovall, Mr. Tom Stovall and Mr. Burton Smith arrived at Judge Hopkins's office. They had hardly gotten well seated before Colonel W. K. Miller and Judge J. T. Pendleton, Mrs. Phinizy's attorneys, came in.

The attorneys took seats in Judge Hopkins's private office, and Mrs. Brantley and little Julia remained in an adjoining room.

The Judge's Decision. Judge Hopkins had his decision already prepared, and as soon as all the attorneys had arrived, he began the reading of it. He read slowly and with great dignity.

First, an outline of the case from its incep tion to the present time, and a review of the financial conditions of both parties were made to show which was the better prepared to care for the little girl. Then came the decision giving the child to Mrs. Phinizy.

After stating the facts in the case, Judge Hopkins gave his decision and the reasons for He read as follows:

I have heard the testimony offered by the re spective parties, and the argument of counsel. Let the decision be what it may, it must bring grief to a loving heart. That is unavoidable. Both aunts love the child; both desire her happi-Seeing that both cannot be gratified, an that one or the other must make the sacrifice they have determined to end the controversy by this arbitration. And have nobly and wisely prethis arbitration. And nive hoof, and wise pre-scribed a plan for my guidance which makes the interest of the child the controlling ele-ment in the decision. Julia is now eleven years of age. She is a bright and beautiful child. This guardianship is to conand beautiful child. This guardianship is to continue for ten years, and is to carry her to mature seemanhood. The future course of her life is to be shaped by this decision. I have felt the weight of the responsibility imposed upon me by this reference, and in view of it and the circumstances, have endeavored to arrive at such a conclusion as would be to the lasting interest of the child, for that interest must rise above the feelings and wishes of all who are connected with the control wishes of all who are connected with the contro versy. The testimony has fully disclosed the character and condition in life of both aunts who are seeking the guardianship, and from it the character of both ladies, to say the least, is entirely free from all objection.

According to the testimony, Mrs. Brantly's condition is substantially this: She is an estimable married lady, twenty-five years of age, and has one child, an infant. She has had the care of Julia, and her love for her is great. Mr. Brantly is a young man. He is in business at Dothan in the state of Alabama. He has a music store, and sells on commission for a house in Atlanta. Last pear his income was about $2,500. Before that, he was engaged at one time in exhibiting a phonograph. Mrs. Brantly, her sister and two phonograph. Mrs. Brantly, her sister and two brothers live together in Atlanta. The testimony ome from the property embraced in the wiff, of Mrs. Stovall is about seventy dollars a month. Thomas P. Stovall is a young man of fine character, is unmarried and has a salary of $100 a month. The younger brother has a salary of $55 a month During most of the time Julia's father has furnished about $25 a month for her support. The social position of Mrs. Brantly is unexceptionable, and she has taught music to aid in support of the effort to avoid fixing on their children the idle and aimless character that is sometimes the outgrowth of wealth.

Mrs. Phinizy's condition is shown to be sub-Mrs. Phinizy's condition is shown to be substantially as follows: She was the devoted sister of Julia's mother; her permanent nome is in the city of Augusta; she is noted for her benevolence; her social position is unexcelled, and her husband has a fortune of $200,000 or more. She loves the child dearly, and offers to relinquish all claim to Julia's interest under Mrs. Stovall's will, and seeks to rear and educate her as if she were her own child. Her husband is shown to be a generous man, and their children are taught and governed with reference to the useful and practical duties of life, and their system of family government is shown by the testimony to be an effort to avoid fixing on their children the idle and aimless character that is sometimes the outgrowth of wealth.

Julia expresses a decided preference for Mrs. Brantly, but the testimony discloses that her wishes depend largely upon where and with whom she is at the time she expresses them. She is but a child and this is, perhaps, to be expected.

The controlling inquiry is, what is the best for Julia? Not for this day alone, but for the ten years to come. In which direction do I find the strongest assurance that during the ten years she will certainly be maintained and receive the finished education which will fit her for her lite's work? Under all the circumstances, which aunt is more likely to confer greater benefit on her?

The testimony appears to establish that, with equal love and purity of purpose, and without fault on her part, it is Mrs. Brantley's misfortune to be less able than Mrs. Phinizy to promote Julia's welfare. Regretting that an act of mine should cause pain or grief to any one, but impelled by a sense of duty to the child that admits of no compromise with feeling of mere sentiment, I reach the conclusion indicated in the award wich is herewith filed. December 1, 1801.

JOHN L. HOPKINS, Arbitrator.

The Award. The Award.

The Award.

Georgia, Fulton County.—After hearing and considering the testimony offered by Mrs. Marion Coles Phinizy and Mrs. Nita S. Brantly and Thomas P. Stovall, the parties to the foregoing agreement, I do determine and award that Mrs. Marion Coles Phinizy shall have the guardianship of the minor, Julia Eloise Stovall, and that her appointment shall be accomplished by appropriate steps under the proceedings in Richmond county. This, December 1, 1891. JOHN L. HOPKINS, Arbitrator.

As soon as the fateful words were read, Mrs. Brantly's attorney arose and walked into the next room, where Mrs Brantly and the little girl were sitting. Mrs. Brantly was sitting quietly, but anxiously awaiting the decision. The little girl sat idly playing with the strings on her cloak.

'The judge has decided against us," said 'Oh, he has not, surely," said Mrs. Brantly, springing up.

"He has, and Julia goes to Mrs. Phinizy." "What is it?" asked Julia, looking up. "I won't go back to Augusta." The judge says you must go to Mrs. Phinizy," replied the attorney.

"I don't care," said the pretty little girl.
"I'll stay here."

"She shall not go; I will keep her as long as she wants to stay with me. If they take her to Augusta, I'll go and bring her back. They shall not have her," broke in Mrs. She threw her arms about the pretty, sweet faced child, and began to cry.

"Don't cry," said little Julia, "I won't Mrs. Brantly wept more and more, and the two clung close together. Mr. Thomas Stovall, the uncle of the little girl, was also weeping.

More Litigation.

After a few minutes' consultation together
Mr. Smith announced that his client would not abide by the decision of Judge Hopkins, and he would file a bill of exceptions to it. The terms of the agreement were these

The Agreement. Georgia, Fulton County—Whereas; There is a certain controversy between Mrs. Marion Coles Phinlzy, of the county of Richmond, who has been appointed guardian of the person of Julia E. Stovall upon the one part, and Mrs. Nita S. Brantly and Thomas P. Stovall, who have been appointed franctions in the control of the control of the country of the countr

Stovall upon the one part, and Mrs. Nita S. Brantly and Thomas P. Stovall, who have been appointed guardians in the county of Fulton of the said Julia E. Stovall; and,

Whereas, all of said parties desire to settle said matter and have agreed to submit the entire question of the guardianship of said minor to Judge John L. Hopkins, of Atlants, 6a., to decide all matters pertaining to the respective claims of said parties for the guardianship of said child, considering principally the best interests of the child and its future welfare, and also all other things appropriate to a just judgment, in coming to the conclusion as to who shall be appointed guardian of said child and retain possession of her until her majority.

Whoever is appointed guardian of said child shall be appointed under the proceedings new pending in Fulton county or Richmond county as may be determined by the said John L. Hopkins, it being the intention of both parties to abide by the decision of the said John L. Hopkins and to carry out the same by and through the proceedings as above mentioned.

In witness whereof the said parties hereto have mutually set their hands and sea's this the 2sth day of November, 1891.

Attorney.

Mr. W. K. Miller had intended going back

Mr. W. K. Miller had intended going back to Augusta at 2:45 o'clock with little Julia, but decided to wait until after the habeau corpus cases could be heard.

After consulting together the attorneys de-cided to set the hearing of the habeas corpus sued out by Mrs. Brantly against Deputy Sheriff Barnes for the possession of the little girl, for 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, before Judge W. L. Calhoun.

Before the Ordinary. At 3 o'clock the parties again met at Ordinary Calhoun's office. Little Julia was present with Mrs. Brantly, having been alowed by the sheriff to remain with her.

Judge Pendleton asked that the case be set for 9 o'clock this morning in order to allow Mr. and Mrs. Phinizy time to be present. He had telegraphed them, and they would get here Mr. Smith offered no objection, and the case

Mr. Sinth ohered no objection, and the case will come up at 9 o'clock today.

An hour later a habeas corpus sued out by Mrs. Phinizy against the Brantlys for the possession of little Julia, will come up in Judge Westmoreland's court. Both cases will be strongly contested, and the result is awaited with interest.

In this connection a curious thing may come to pass. Judge Calhoun may decide that the child shall go to Mrs. Brantly. An hour later Judge Westmoreland may decide that Mrs. Phinizy is entitled to her.

In that case, which will get her?

Which is the higher in authority—Judge Westmoreland or Judge Calhoun?

On the other hand, both judges' decisions may be the same—both award little Julia to Mrs. Phinizy, for justance. If this were so. may be the same—both award little Julia to Mrs. Phinizy, for instance. If this were so, the case would not be ended. Mrs. Brantly is determined not to give the little girl up, and if both cases go against her she will make some other move to keep the child.

At any rate, the case is not yet ended.

A Similar Case.

Without hesitation, in a clear, sweet voice, the reply came, "with my grandmother." The court confirmed the decision!

The late Judge Cincinnatus Peeples was then a law student and was present at the trial. He often spoke of it to my mother in their maturer years.
